Description

Laboratory analysis to determine the concentration of coenzyme Q10

Coenzyme Q10 is also referred to as the "powerhouse of the cell". As a cofactor it plays an important role in cellular energy production. Supplementation is therefore very popular not only during intense physical exertion but also with advancing age.
To align this appropriately and achieve the greatest possible effect, it is sensible to take the current coenzyme Q10 status as a baseline. The coenzyme Q10 blood test determines the coenzyme Q10 status using capillary blood.
